In Christian eschatology, the Four Last Things or four last things of man (Latin: quattuor novissima) are Death, Judgment, Heaven, and Hell, the four last stages of the soul in life and the afterlife. They are often commended as a collective topic for pious meditation; Saint Philip Neri wrote, "Beginners in religion ought to exercise

What makes Taylor's books so unusual - and so interesting - is that he does it "backwards".
The Four Last Things, the first book in the trilogy and the most recent chronologically, is set in the 1990's and describes the abduction of four year old Lucy Appleyard.

As one would expect, The Last Four Things shares similar elements with The Left Hand of God; cold-blooded brutality (Hoffman doesn't shy away from anything, it seems) set amongst several strategical battle scenes cement the series' position amongst other fashionably violent novels such as George RR Martin's A Song of Ice and Fire. Both series also share
